Dump for Hunger campaign

IDAHO FALLS - A local grocery store is trying to fill dump-trucks worth of food for the needy. The Albertsons on 17th St. in Idaho Falls, teamed up with Western States Caterpillar for the Dump for Hunger campaign. They're trying to collect more than 150-thousand pounds of food, which equals two loads of a 730 dump truck.

"It goes to the local food bank so it does stay locally which is a very nice thing. and they're doing it after the holidays just to keep the food banks going a little bit," says Albertsons Cashier, Chuck McCracken

If you'd like to help, you can take your donations to the Albertsons until February 9.
